

THE UNIVERSITY of NORTH CAROLINA
GREENSBORO

DEPARTMENT OF LIBRARY & INFORMATION STUDIES

"Consociating People, Information and Libraries"

Master of Library and Information Studies

The MLIS program prepares people for professional employment in public, academic, and special libraries as well as other careers in information work. The program also offers preparation leading to licensure as a School Library Media Coordinator (076), and Instructional Technology Specialist-Computers (077) through the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction.

Courses leading to the MLIS are offered in Greensboro, Charlotte and Asheville. For complete information visit <http://lis.uncg.edu> or call (336) 334-3477.

Accredited by the American Library Association and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education